

BANANAS HANDOUT

Subsidized Child Care Handout Northern Alameda County

(State budget cuts may result in reductions to the funding for child care programs.
The information on programs in this handout is subject to change.)

Need help paying for child care?

If you do, you're looking for "subsidized" child care. This handout will assist you in your search. There are a variety of child care programs in Alameda County to help low-income parents. It's important for you to start your search early to find a subsidized program for your child because there are more families who need help than there is money to pay for it.

Who funds subsidized child care?

The California Department of Education (CDE) administers most of the child care funds in California. Some local governments, corporations and foundations also provide funds to serve children from low-income families.

Who operates subsidized programs?

Programs are run by a wide variety of institutions – nonprofit, for-profit organizations, churches, school districts, local governments, etc.

What types of programs are available?

Alternative Payment (AP) Programs

These programs do not provide the actual child care. Instead, they reimburse the provider for the child care of eligible families in licensed family child care homes, centers or license-exempt child care situations. The parent chooses the child care option. Then the AP program signs an agreement with the parent and provider and reimburses the provider directly. AP programs serve specific geographic areas.

CalWORKs (Welfare to Work) Programs:

Stage 1, Stage 2, and Stage 3:

These programs serve parents who are receiving or have received cash aid (TANF). They are funded by both the state and federal government. New CalWORKs cash aid recipients go through a CalWORKs orientation. During the first few months after they attend this orientation, the child care (chosen by the parent) is paid for by a Stage 1 alternative payment (AP) program. Once the CalWORKs parents are no longer receiving cash aid for themselves, they are transferred to a Stage 2 AP program. Parents remain in Stage 2 until 24 months after they last received cash aid. At that point they are transferred to a Stage 3 program. This is a closed process and only parents on CalWORKs are eligible for any of these programs.

To find out if you are eligible for CalWORKs call 510-263-2420. If you are currently receiving cash aid (not just your child listed on the grant), then call Child Care Links to apply for Stage 1 at 510-568-0306.

If you are not eligible for CalWORKs, you will need to apply for an AP program. In order to qualify, your family income must be below a certain level set by CDE based on your family size and gross monthly income. See the California Schedule of Income Ceilings chart below to determine whether you are eligible. For most state-funded programs parents must be working, looking for work, going to school, in training, or incapacitated.

Child Development Centers (CDC)

General child care and development programs are state and federally funded programs that use centers operated or administered by either public or private agencies and local educational agencies. These agencies provide child development services for children from birth through 12 years of age (and older children who have exceptional needs). However, there are very few child care centers that serve infants. Most serve children beginning at age three. These programs generally offer full-day, full-year care.

State Preschool (or Pre-K)

Part-day comprehensive developmental programs for three- to five-year-old children from low-income families. State Preschool programs do not require the parent to be working, looking for work, in training, incapacitated or going to school in order to qualify.

Special Note:

Every licensed child care program is required to provide parents with information on its licensing history, including complaints substantiated by the Community Care Licensing Division (CCLD). Feel free to ask for licensing documents. You can also contact the Community Care Licensing Division (CCLD) for information about licensed programs at 1-844-538-8766.
